CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. George O. Barnes and family will sail for Scotland, July 10.

—Elders E. C. Wells and M. W. Harkins closed a meeting at Tilton Christian church with 25 additions. —Paris, Kentucky.

—The Kentucky Baptist association, which has been in session at Owensboro adjourned Tuesday to meet at Williamsburg in November, 1892.

—Rev. Geo. O. Barnes and family are at Richmond holding services. It is expected that they will visit friends in this city next week. —Lex. Press.

—Thirteen hundred delegates are present at the International Sunday-school convention at Pittsburgh, representing 112,892 schools, with 1,178,391 teachers and 9,142,997 scholars.

—The Baptist Preachers' Association at Atlanta expressed great confidence in the Christian character of Rev. McCutcher, but mildly condemned him for beating his wife. A beautiful Christian character to have.

In 1891 there were 35 translations of the Scriptures in existence. Since the formation of the British and Foreign Bible Society in that year, ten millions of money have been expended in the work of circulating the Bible, and there are now, counting dialects as well as languages, nearly 300 translations of the Scriptures.

—Rev. W. V. Sheppard will preach at the College chapel next Sunday night at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. Mr. Sheppard is desirous of building up an Episcopal church here and especially requests members of that body and those whose professions are that way to assist him in the work.

A Great Volcanic Eruption in Alaska.

A recent dispatch from San Francisco brings word that Bogoslov, the Alaskan volcano that rose from the ocean depths about seven years ago and blazed and smoked for a time, is again in eruption.

This recent eruption began February 10, and has continued at intervals. April 17 and 22 there were signs of great activity, smoke and flame pouring from the lofty crater and rising to a great height. The sky for weeks was clouded with ash, and those fell in blizzards showers in the town of Ilulink, 41 miles to the eastward.

To the people who saw the eruption it seemed a pillar of fire and smoke fully 15 miles high, rising from the horizon and losing itself in the low clouds.

Professor Davidson, of the Coast Survey, estimates that the volcanic pillar must have been sent up to a height of at least four miles above the sea.

Capt. Everett Smith, of the steam whaler, Iren, passed near the scene soon after the first eruption. He noted that four new islets, each detached, but near the volcano island, had arisen from the depths. As the ocean bottom here, off Bogoslov, is 811 fathoms, and there is a depth of 1,200 fathoms about 12 miles away, an idea may be gained of the tremendous energy required to raise an islet from the ocean bottom to the surface.

Heat of the Moon.

A problem of great interest in physics and astronomy, on which Tyndall, Lord House and Professor Langley labored in vain, has been solved, and trustworthy evidence at last been obtained as to the thermal value of moonlight. This has been accomplished by Mr. C. V. Boys, one of the professors at South Kensington, who, by means of his quartz filaments, has produced a thermopile of almost incredible delicacy. By this apparatus he can render sensible the heat of a candle up to the distance of 14 miles, and by directing the minute disk of the instrument to the moon he has shown that the warmth received from its reflected light is equal to that given out by a candle at 21 feet distance. The result accords with the anticipations of Prof. Piazzi Smyth. Observation seems to show that, although the moon's face is in the blaze of an unclouded sun for 14 days, it remains comparatively cool, and that whatever heating it does ultimately receive is rapidly gained and as rapidly lost. —London Standard.

Mr. Stanley's future mother-in-law is a handsome widow, enjoying the large fortune left her by her late husband, a Parliamentary lawyer. Mr. Gladstone and other persons of the Liberal party are frequent guests at her table, and more than one coronet has been offered and refused by her two beautiful daughters. Her only other child, a son, is a mild young man, who shows none of the intellect of his sisters. He is engaged to be married to the daughter of a country squire, and will probably appear at the altar of Hymen at the same time as his sister.

A holiday was offered to the boys at Eaton on condition that they would discover an English word containing all the vowels in regular order. In a very little while one of them shouted out, "Abstemiously," and another, "Facetiously," amidst the plaudits of their companions.

Waist Deep in Money.

Tom Kelly, the ticket seller of Barnum's circus, is as much a specialist in his peculiar line as any, strictly speaking, professional man. The whole process of receiving the money, giving the ticket and making the change is done in three movements with the regularity of clockwork. The ticket window is about four feet above the bottom of the wagon. Mr. Kelly sits upon a high stool with a large sum of money in dollars, halves and quarters piled upon the shelf on his right. A corresponding shelf on the left is covered with tickets and half tickets. All this is arranged before the window is opened. A line of several hundred impatiently chattering people wait outside. Mr. Kelly climbs upon his stool, takes a long, deep breath and opens the window.

Money is received in his right hand and dropped upon the floor. The thumb of the left hand has in the meantime pushed a ticket from the pile and the right hand has selected, mechanically, the change and presented it to the purchaser. No attempt is made to pile up the money received. It is literally dropped and when the show commences Mr. Kelly sits like a lony surrounded by a sea of money, the crests of whose waves mount up to and press closely around his waist and almost on a level with the window ledge. After the performance commences and no more people want tickets, Mr. Kelly closes the window and steps carefully over this bed of money. Then, and not till then, is any attempt made to count and assort this sum, which amounts to several thousand dollars in pieces of all denominations. —New York Press.

Uses For Coffee.

It is asserted by men of high professional ability that when the system needs a stimulant, nothing equals a cup of fresh coffee. Those who desire to rescue the drunkard from his cups will find no better substitute from spirits than strong, new-made coffee, without milk or sugar. Two ounces of coffee, or one-eighth of a pound, to one pint of boiling water makes a first-class beverage, but the water must be boiling, not merely hot. Bitterness comes from boiling too long. If the coffee required for breakfast be put in a granitized kettle over night, and a pint of cold water poured over it, it can be heated to just the boiling point, and then set back to prevent further ebullition, when it will be found that while the strength is extracted, its delicate aroma is preserved. As our country consumes nearly 10 lbs. of coffee per capita, it is a pity not to have it made in the best manner. It is asserted by those who have tried it that malaria and epidemics are avoided by those who drink a cup of hot coffee before venturing into the morning air. Burned on hot coals it is a disinfectant for a sick room. By some of our best physicians it is considered a specific in typhoid fever. —The Epitome.

When water once begins to boil, it is impossible to raise its temperature any higher, all excess of heat is absorbed by the escaping, as so called, latent heat, and is given out again when it condenses. We often speak of seeing the steam escaping from the mouth of a kettle, but this is incorrect—steam is an invisible vapor, and we can no more see it than we can air. What we do see are the minute drops of water into which the steam condenses on coming into the cool air. If we boil water in a glass flask, we shall notice that nothing can be seen on the interior; and by observing the steam escaping from a kettle we shall notice that there is quite a distance between the end of the spout and the point where the cloud becomes visible. This cloud of steam is of exactly the same nature as the clouds which float in the sky, and which are formed by the condensation in the cold upper regions of aqueous vapor in the air.

We hear a deal about overwork in these days. In all professions and callings multitudes are complaining that they are driven to death. In some cases this ground is well taken, but in most cases it is not overwork, but overworry, or overeating, or needless exposure, or overindulgence of the appetites that is sending the people to the hospital, madhouse and premature graves. Body and mind are so constituted that they will endure an immense amount of work if proper care is taken of the health.

A few days ago three families of Finlanders settled on farms in the northern part of Beadle county, South Dakota. In one of the families there are 19 children, in another 17 and the third 9, the parents of the last family having been married but 10 years. These families will soon be joined by four others, all relatives, numbering 46 persons, making a total of 97 persons in 7 families.

NOTHING TO LAUGH AT.—Mr. Blooms—"What were the boys all laughing so heartily over?" Clumley—"Smith got off one of his best jokes." "Why didn't you laugh?" "It was on me." —Chicago Times.

WAYNESBURG.

—W. I. Dishon's mother, 80 years of age, and son, Ezra, 16 years old, died this week.

—Rev. J. N. Bowling, of McKinney, preached two excellent sermons here last Sunday on the subjects of Heaven and Hell.

—Col. W. H. Miller and Hon. G. M. Davidson, of Stanford, and John E. Hye, a young lawyer from Esteburg, are here on legal business in Squire M. H. Cochrane's court. S. P. Troch has gone to Clinton county in the interest of the Ogleby State Co. V. R. Waters, of Boyle, is here talking pianos and organs to our folks.

—Varnon, Carpenter and Cooper, of Stanford, were here last week on official business, but on account of Judge Varnon's illness very little good resulted from the trip. Joe Pexton was here last week shaking hands with the "dear people" and it is said that every man in this precinct is for him. Some of Troch's relatives and warm friends here are trusting that he will not make the race for county clerk as they are pledged to Cooper.

Ignorance in High Places.

A comical incident at Constantinople illustrated what thin ice those that use the press have to walk upon under the rule of the Sultan of Turkey, states the New York Independent. There is a Greek benevolent society in Constantinople which recently had occasion to publish a pamphlet on its work, and on the title-page there was put a quotation from Paul's Epistle to the Galatians. Very soon after it appeared a police officer came to the printing office and demanded of the editor that he should give him information as to who this Paul was who had been writing letters to the people of Galatia (one of the suburbs of Constantinople), as he had orders to get a copy of these letters and to bring the aforesaid Paul to headquarters. The editor explained that Paul could not be brought to headquarters; he was dead. But the functionary retorted that his orders were to bring Paul, and if he could not bring Paul to bring the editor. It was of no use to protest that Paul had been in Heaven for eighteen hundred years; and the editor was taken to headquarters and put in prison for several days, until finally the Greek Patriarch interfered and presented the bureau of censorship with a copy of the letter of Paul, which he showed was addressed not to the people of Galatia, but to the province of the ancient Roman Empire. This having at last been made clear, the editor was released.

AN EXEANT TERRIBLE IS CURE.—Recently a lady took her little boy to a church in Leeds. He was a very little boy, and it was his first visit to church. The organ began to play and the child turned to his mother and asked in a child whisper:

"What's that, mamma?" "Hush, dear, it's the organ." "An organ in church?" whispered the small boy, evidently much astonished and impressed. Then a pause of expectation, and a clergyman, small of stature, appeared in gorgeous vestments. "Th, look, mamma!" called out the infant terrible, in clear accents. "Is that the monkey?" —Leeds Mercury.

SENSIBLE.—It is natural for some persons, even in childhood, to take a philosophical view of things:

Little Brother—"See that pretty bird out there in the rain? I wish he would go to sleep in the grass so I could catch him."

Little Sister—"Why don't you wish he'd go to sleep on the sidewalk, 'cause then you could catch him without getting your feet wet?" —Youth's Companion.

VALUE OF A PASSENGER TRAIN.—But few persons who view a passenger train as it goes thundering past have an idea that it represents a cash value of from $75,000 to $150,000, but such is the case. The ordinary express train represents from $85,000 to $90,000. The engine and tender are valued at $10,500; the baggage car, $1,000; the postal car, $2,000; the smoking car, $5,000; two ordinary passenger cars, $10,000 each; three palace cars, $15,000 each—total, $83,000. Many of the trains which pull up to or out from the Union depot in this city are worth $150,000. —St. Louis Republic.

Some of the best and most profitable farming is done by the head, around the fire, after the evening meal is over. Our farmers, as a rule, are not accustomed to doing as much of this part of farming as they should do. Begin now, and improve your time more in this line. Think over what is not done, but needs to be done at once, and to-morrow see that it is executed.

A line head of virgin gold-colored hair will bring from $200 to $500, according to its length and luxuriance, and to those who have it and are anxious to convert it into hard cash, it may be pleasing to hear that there are orders in advance for all that can be produced of this description for the next five years.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Mr. J. C. Harding, proprietor of the Gilcher Hotel, has purchased a hotel in Catlettsburg and will move to that place before long and take charge of the property.

—A goodly number from here will attend the basket meeting at Fork Church, in Garrard, next Sunday. The object of the meeting is to celebrate the semi-centennial of the first Sunday-school organized in that neighborhood. Mr. John K. West is the only living person who was a member of the first Sunday-school. Several big guns are on the programme for addresses.

—The erection of a new public school-house will be begun in a short while. A house that will cost $10,000 or $12,000, of modern style, to be built large enough to accommodate all the children who attend, will be erected. The site is on the ground where the present school-house stands. This will fill a long felt want, and children that have not attended on account of an over-crowded house, will now go.

—A death that was a surprise and a shock to the entire community occurred Tuesday evening, at 1 o'clock, when Dr. O. Beatty passed unexpectedly away. He had only taken sick the evening previous to his death and only a few knew that he was ill. He died of congestion of the stomach. He was 75 years old and was considered a very active and sprightly man for his age. Dr. Beatty was one of the most prominent and best men in Danville and his loss will be deeply felt. He was connected with Centre College as teacher and president a greater part of his life. The funeral services were held at the Second Presbyterian church Thursday evening at 5 o'clock; burial in Danville cemetery.

HUMBLE.—Almost all about ready to finish up harvest. D. N. Prewitt sold a lot of hogs to some parties in Garrard for $3.40. Mrs. Lucinda Ball died at a good old age a few days ago. L. G. Unblie sold his On Time horse to Pony Beazley for $190. The beef club began here last week and if you will call in any Friday evening you can hear about it. J. P. Burnett made an assignment last Saturday to Joel Walker. The indebtedness is about $900 and amount of goods about the same. Wesley Sutton sold to John Wood his 2-year-old colt by Messenger Chief for $125. George Camper has moved to Danville. Dave Walker will soon take a position in the new bank of Lancaster. We hope it will be to his interest to do so, as he is an excellent boy. Robert Austin's child died a few days ago and we extend to father and mother our sympathy. Mrs. Arnold is making his stage line a success through here.

GREEN-BRIAR AND DRIPPING SPRINGS.

"HOTEL KATYDID." To APPLICANTS—I have secured all the help I need and have had over 20 applicants for the position of clerk alone; so it is utterly impossible for me to reply by letter. Mr. Gastineau, of Lexington, has the position as clerk in the store and Mr. Heller, of Ohio, is hotel clerk. The Katydid will positively open on the 1st day of July and the Grand Picnic will be on the 4th. Everybody invited. Respect, D. G. SLAUGHTER.

Indecision is a fatal weakness of character. Some people seldom decide even the most simple affairs, but let them drift until they decide themselves. When they think they have decided it is only half a decision. They still hold the matter under consideration as though they had formed no conclusion. After deciding once they have to decide whether their decision shall stand or be revoked. They cannot decide what to decide about the things which they have decided. Poor souls! They are never happy. They are forever wishing they had chosen differently. And when the end of life comes they will be miserable because they have never fully settled anything.

It is a great mistake to fix the mind on the future life in such a way as to forget the duties and proprieties of this life. Some men are intent on getting to Heaven, but they overlook the fact that one must be met for Heaven before he can get there. If one is to be a king in Heaven he must be a king here. No one will wear a crown hereafter who has not been faithful over the few things which were committed to him on the earth.

In a recent speech Congressman Atkinson, of West Virginia, said: "If all the ports of entry on both oceans were to-day blockaded so that no vessel could enter them bearing the products of other countries, and war should be declared against us, we could, with our present facilities, produce every munition of war and every article that we might need for our sustenance for a thousand years."

The uses of electricity extend. An electric battery is one of the new things under the sun. The iron is hollow and the wire passes into the centre and is so arranged that when the electricity is turned on the flat face of the iron is kept at an even degree of heat—just sufficient to do good work.

W. P. WALTON.

The Kentucky Editors Capture Winchester And Immediately Join the Enemy.

WINCHESTER, June 25.—The beautiful little city of Winchester has been captured by the Kentucky editors, supported in solid phalanx by their wives, sisters and sweethearts and are now in peaceful possession. A detachment composed of Judge L. H. Jones, J. M. Rash and the great and only Thomas G. Stuart was sent as far as Lexington, bearing a flag of truce and offering not only to surrender unconditionally everything the city had in sight, but to produce anything the editors wanted and didn't see. The train came in from Louisville loaded to the guards and the others were more or less crowded, and when at 3:10 p. m. Col. E. Polk Johnson, president of the association, called it to order in the decorated Opera House, about 75 papers were shown to be represented, some by as many as three or four persons, making the aggregate attendance over 150, and while Wolf & Frost's band played some lively airs they stepped up to the secretary's desk and settled their dues.

Col. Leeland Hathaway delivered the welcoming address, which was excellent in tone and heartfelt in delivery, and which was responded to by Col. Johnson, who as usual said the right thing in the right way.

Both President Johnson and Secretary Walton having declined re-election, the following officers were then chosen: Mr. Urey Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, president; H. A. Sommers, of the Elizabethtown News, vice-president; H. E. Thompson, of the Paducah News, secretary, and that honest and upright old scribe, Ben Harrison, of the Henderson News, treasurer. T. H. Arnold, of the Middlesboro News, was chosen annual orator and T. G. Watkins, city editor of the Courier-Journal, poet.

At the night session, Mr. James W. Hopper delivered the annual oration and it goes without saying that it was an effort worthy of the ripe scholar and tireless student that he is. Quite an animated flow of oratory followed the invitations of Paducah and Middlesboro for the association to meet with them next year, in which Col. Johnson and Messrs. Ed O. Leigh and Arnold participated. A ballot was taken and Paducah won, though Col. Arnold charged that the box had been stuffed against the Magic City. In the absence of Mr. T. O. Chisholm, his poem was well read by Miss Ella Bagband, of Bowling Green. Mr. T. G. Watkins, city editor of the Courier-Journal, next read a graphic and entertaining paper entitled, "How We Gathered the News—A Tornado Story," and at 10:30 an adjournment was had till next day, when all hands and the cook are to be taken on a special train over the wonderful country through which the Kentucky Union is being built. A banquet at night, a picnic Friday, a hop that night and a goodness-knows-what-else are on the programme.

Winchester is doing her level best to please the boys and is succeeding admirably. W. P. W.

during the Cleveland administration, proposes to take the colored voters of the United States over to the democratic party in a body. Taylor has perfected a plan for a convention to be held in Atlanta next month, to be composed of colored delegates from each State in the Union. The proposed convention as announced by Taylor is to decide upon the plan of preparing figures to prove to the colored people of the country that they have never received any favors from the republican party and never will receive any. In an interview Taylor said that he had invited a number of States, North and South, in the interest of his plan and everywhere finds most of the educated blacks in full sympathy with the movement. They begin to realize, he says, that they can never hope to be more than mere voting machines while they remain in the republican party, and that their real friends are the democrats. Taylor thinks fully 1,000,000 colored voters will vote the democratic ticket at the next national election.

Rich Without Money.

Many a man is rich without money. Thousands of men with nothing in their pockets, and thousands without even a pocket, are rich. A man born with a good, sound constitution, a good stomach, a good heart and good limbs and a pretty good headpiece, is rich. Good bones are better than gold, tough muscles than silver, and nerves that flash fire and carry energy to every function are better than houses and land. It is better than a landed estate to have the right kind of a father and mother. Good breasts and bad breasts exist among men as really as among herds and horses. Education may do much to check evil tendencies or to develop good ones; but it is a great thing to inherit the right proportion of faculties to start with. The man is rich who has a good disposition, who is naturally kind, patient, cheerful and hopeful, and who has a flavor of wit and fun in his composition.

The hardest thing to get on with in this life is a man's own self. A cross, selfish fellow, a desponding and complaining fellow, a timid and care-burdened man—these are all born deformed on the inside. They do not limp, but their thoughts sometimes do.—Clay Manufacturers' Engineer.

"I notice one thing," says an observant manufacturer, "and that is that hard good logs, especially oak, that have been placed in the water immediately after cutting and allowed to thoroughly soak, make brighter lumber with less tendency to sap stain, than that from logs that are left on the ground for several months. I find, also, that in green logs, if sawed immediately after cutting, and the lumber is thoroughly steamed preparatory to placing in the dry kiln, the same results will be obtained, greatly enhancing the value of the lumber for fine finishing purposes."

Gov. McCreary is announced as a candidate for re-election to Congress from the 8th district and we presume he will have no opposition. The governor is one of the ablest men on the democratic side of the House, and if the democrats have a majority in the next House—and we think they will—he is the best equipped man in that body to fill the Speaker's chair. He is cool and self-possessed, a fine parliamentarian and his rulings at all times would be honest and fair to all concerned.—Cattlettsburg Democrat.

HON. JOHN D. WHITE passed up the road Tuesday and in response to our inquiry said he had not fully determined to become a candidate for appellate clerk. THE weather during the last several days has been hotter than before. A good shower fell here Wednesday evening which cooled the atmosphere so that sweltering humanity was enabled to get one good night's rest in two or three weeks, but yesterday was about as hot as ever. In the language of one who has known her for many years, "she was one of the best and kindest women in the community in which she lived." Mrs. McRoberts was born and raised in Boyle county and was a Miss Vaines. She joined the Christian church when only 14 years of age, under the preaching of Elds. J. T. Johnson and John Smith and lived a christian in reality as well as in name. She was married to Mr. McRoberts in 1842, and raised five children, all of whom are living. Her remains will be brought to Mr. Tom McRoberts, where services by Eld. Jos. Ballou will be held. Burial immediately afterwards in Buffalo Cemetery.

The horn of the Alps is employed in the mountain districts not only to sound the cow-call, but for another purpose, solemn and religious. As soon as the sun has disappeared in the vales and its last rays are just glimmering on the snowy summits of the mountains, the herdsman who dwells on the loftiest peak takes his horn and trumpets forth: "Praise God the Lord!" All the herdsman in the neighborhood take their horns and repeat the words. This often continues a quarter of an hour, while on all sides the mountains echo the name of God. A solemn stillness follows; every individual offers his secret prayer on bended knee and with uncovered head. By this time it is quite dark. "Good-night!" trumpets forth the herdsman on the loftiest summit. "Good-night!" is repeated on all the mountains, from the horns of the herdsman and the clefts of the rocks.
